For Immediate Release

Ministers from South and North Atlantic to Sign the All-Atlantic Ocean Research and Innovation Alliance Declaration

The second part of the All-Atlantic Ocean Research and Innovation Alliance 2022 Forum will take place July 12-14, 2022 in Washington, D.C. As a co-host of the 2022 Forum, the United States will host the Ministerial Event. This event follows the Scientific Event hosted in Brazil from May 31 to June 2.

The Ministerial Event will highlight the work of the All-Atlantic ocean research community and outline the forward-looking developments for future Alliance work. The All-Atlantic Ocean Youth Ambassadors will share the significance of Atlantic cooperation for early career professionals and future generations, and Ministers will have the opportunity to speak to their countries' commitments to the All-Atlantic Ocean Research Alliance. The highlight of the Forum will be the signing of the All-Atlantic Ocean Research & Innovation Alliance Declaration. The Declaration outlines the vision of the All-Atlantic and will build upon the collaboration between existing initiatives in the Atlantic basin on ocean research and innovation. The Ministerial Event will be both in person and streamed live, and there will be several associated side events hosted by other Atlantic partners.
